ALLIES ADVANCE LESS RAPIDLY

SEVERAL POINTS TAKEN AND PRESSURE OF RETIRING GERMANS MAINTAINED ON ENTIRE LINE.

(By the Associated Press)

As the Allied armies draw near Cambrai, St. Quentin and natural German defensive positions in St. Gobain forest the offensive movement begins to lose much of the momentum it gained and maintained while less important enemy positions were being taken. Slow progress continues to be made by Field Marshal Haig's forces in the direction of Cambrai and St. Quentin and if French operations directed by Generals Humbert and Mangin are successful in encircling Fort Gobain massif, the German retreat must begin anew and with greater rapidity. Cambrai and St. Quentin are within striking distance but German resistance has stiffened. Northwest of St. Gobain the French have taken Mennessis and Tergnier and threaten LaFere. Between the Vesle and Aisne rivers additional ground has been gained by the Franco-Americans.

Quiet on Flanders Front.

London, Sept. 9.—Last night passed in quiet along the British northern front in France and in Flanders, except for artillery activity and minor raiding operations, according to today's war office report.

British Near St. Quentin.

London, Sept. 9 (1 P. M.).—Pushing ahead today on the front between Peronne and St. Quentin British patrols have occupied the towns of Vermand, five and a half miles northwest of St. Quentin and Vendelles, two miles north of Vermand.

French and Americans Gain.

Paris, Sept. 9.—North of the Somme the French made another advance in the direction of Clastres and have occupied Lemot farm, according to the war office report today. The French crossed Crozat canal opposite Lys, three miles south of Vendeuil. Two strong German counter-attacks in Laffaux region, northeast of Soissons were repulsed. The French took eighty prisoners belonging to five different regiments.

HUNS CLAIM REPULSE OF ALLIED ARMIES

(By the Associated Press)
Berlin via London, Sept. 9.—Allied attacks north of Armentieres, in Flanders, yesterday were repulsed by the Germans who took prisoners, says today's official statement from German general staff. Between the Aisne and Ailette rivers, the statements add, the French were repulsed along the whole front with sanguinary losses.

FOURTH GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES

(By the Associated Press)
Boston, Sept. 9.—Although box selections were in doubt shortly before the fourth world series game between the Boston Americans and Chicago Nationals there was expectation that Boston fans would see their favorite Babe Ruth try to pitch his team to another victory and that the Red Sox would have a chance to bat against Claude Hendrix for the Cubs. Boston has won two games to Chicago's one, so far in series.

The Cotton Market.

The cotton market fluctuated today over a range of 40 points, New York closing at the starting point, December quotations being 33.98 to 34. On the streets of Ada the price ranged from 33.50 to 34.

HAIG'S MEN NEAR HINDENBURG LINE

(By the Associated Press)
With British Army in France, Sept. 9.—Field Marshal Haig's forces this morning advanced in an area northwest of St. Quentin and are now five miles from the old Hindenburg line, and still pressing forward. In Flanders, the Germans have removed their artillery to the east of the Lys river.

PREPARING FOR REGISTRATION

SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION FOR ADVISORY BOARD ASSISTANTS WEDNESDAY EVENING.

About 85 persons in Pontotoc county, in addition to the 35 lawyers in the county, have been appointed as associate members of the legal advisory board of Pontotoc county to aid in filling out the new questionnaires. At the other registrations only lawyers were on this board and they were literally swamped with the work. This time the work will be done quicker and with more ease than before. It is thought that the Legal Advisory Board, composed of Orel Bubby, Robt Wimbish and C. T. Barney, have appointed enough men in each town in the county to take care of the new registrants quickly and efficiently.

A school of instruction will be held at the Court House at Ada at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday night, Sept. 11, to aid the new members of the advisory board in learning how to fill out the questionnaires. All persons who have received appointments as associate members of the legal advisory board are urged to be present.

Following are the men in Pontotoc county on this board and registrants can take their questionnaires to any one of them to receive aid.

HUNS AGREE TO WILSON'S TERMS

MAY POSSIBLY BE ANOTHER
GERMAN TRICK TO HINDER
LIBERTY LOAN.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Germany's reply to President Wilson's inquiry intercepting it as it was being sent by the great wireless towers at Nauen and forwarded here tonight in an official dispatch from France, declares that Germany is ready to accept President Wilson's peace terms, evacuate the invaded territory as a prerequisite to an armistice and that the bid for peace represents the German people, as well as the government.

Although on its face the text of the German note seems to be a complete acceptance of President Wilson's terms, the people of the United States and the allied countries should be cautioned against accepting it as such a compliance of the president's demands as will mean immediate cessation of hostilities.

The text of the note as received here says Germany accepts President Wilson's terms as laid down; accepts evacuation of invaded territory as a necessary preliminary to an armistice and ask for a mixed commission to make the arrangements; declares that the chancellor speaks "in the name of the German government and of the German people," and that its only object in entering into discussions is to agree on the practical details for carrying out the terms President Wilson has laid down.

The greatest danger facing the people of the United States, officials said here tonight, is that they might hastily consider Germany's proposition as the unconditional surrender which the co-belligerents demand and relax their efforts to continue the victories at arms and carry over the fourth Liberty loan. On every side in official quarters it was stated that this view of the situation could not be placed before the public too strongly.

IN MEMORIAM.

On Saturday Oct. 12, as the sun was shedding its first rays over the city the angel of death came with muffled wings and silent tread and took from a devoted father and mother their innocent babe, Beulah, the 18-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Northcutt. Grim death chilled the dear form and hushed the sweet voice loved by all, and now the winds blow and the birds sing over the mound that marks her resting place. Now another voice sings God's praise around the great white throne and the shroud that covers her now is an angle robe. A FRIEND.

Does Uncle Sam still hold the note you signed on June 28th? If so, buy your war savings stamps and cancel the note.

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC IS LESS VIRULENT

The situation in the city relative to the prevalent epidemic seems to be much better today. While there seems to be an increase in the number of cases, the general conditions seem to be much improved. Fewer serious cases are noted, and the authorities seem to have better control. The following deaths are reported since the issue of Saturday.

Clara V. Jackson, age 18, daughter of Coleman Jackson of 308 West 8th, was buried Sunday.

Mattie Roe, aged 38, who resided near the Cement plant died Saturday and was buried Sunday.

Joe M. Brown, age 20, who resided two miles north of the city, was buried Sunday.

Joe Cope, age 26, living three miles west of the city. Funeral Sunday afternoon.

Jessie M. Harkrider, age 29, living at 301 West 4th, died Saturday evening. The remains were shipped to Conway, Ark., today where the funeral will be held.

Nellie Thurman, age 28, living at 431 West 3rd died Sunday. Funeral was held today.

Master William F. Ebisch, the 2-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wagner Ebisch, died Sunday at the Frisco Hotel. The services were held from the undertaking parlors of Blankship & Cummins Monday afternoon. Interment at Rosedale cemetery.

Metropolitan Jealousy. It is characteristic of New York that it has to have a name of its own for that part of the Hudson which washes the shores of Manhattan. Doughty old Hendrick Hudson's name would seem an appropriate one for any river, and that part of it which lies between the Battery and The Bronx is not north of anything in particular, except possibly New Jersey or Florida; none the less, New York calls it the North river, apparently unwilling to share even a name with "upstate."

NO MORE MEETINGS OF MASONIC LODGES Joseph W. Morris, Grand Master of the A. F. & A. M. of Oklahoma, has issued an order suspending all lodge meetings until further orders. This action is taken because of the epidemic of influenza.

J. M. WINTERSMITH DIES AT LOUISVILLE

J. M. Wintersmith died at Louisville, Kentucky, Sunday morning about 2 o'clock of pneumonia which developed from an attack of influenza contracted a few days ago while he was en route to Louisville to attend the funeral of his sister. The funeral and interment will be held there today, Louisville being his home for many years before coming to Ada. From the first the case was serious and each day his Ada friends waited eagerly for messages hoping that the next would tell of his having passed the crisis safely.

Mr. Wintersmith came to Ada in 1906. He, A. L. Beck and others organizing the Oklahoma Portland Cement Co. and moving here to begin construction of the plant. From that time forward his life was a part of the history of the city and county. There was no public enterprise which did not have his backing, both morally and financially. He was a man of great civic pride and although a very busy man he always found time to work for the interest of the community in which he resided. When the war broke out he put every energy into war work, the Red Cross being his favorite. Applying the same keen business sagacity to this work that characterized his private business, he made the Pontotoc county organization one of the most effective and efficient to be found anywhere and as a result is today one of the banner counties of the United States. In the last Red Cross campaign under his leadership it was the first in America to report over the top.

Not only was Mr. Wintersmith a man of great public spirit, but many a man in Ada has occasion to hold him in grateful remembrance because of personal favors done when they needed a friend, although he never made a display of this side of his character.

His death may to no small degree be attributed to the heavy business and public cares that rested on his shoulders. The cement industry passed through a very hard period that wrecked many plants a few years ago, and only skillful handling brought the Ada plant safely through the crisis. When the property was sold to its present owners two years ago, he was made general manager and at once his work was increased by the decision of the company to enlarge the plant. This with his war work loaded him to the limit and only a man of unusual ability could have carried it through as successfully as did Mr. Wintersmith.

Deceased was a loving husband and father. His ambition centered in the future of his son, Jim, Jr., and it was with pride that he often spoke to intimate friends of plans for the boy when he grew older.

In the death of J. M. Wintersmith this community has lost one of its best citizens. Loyal to the core, enterprising and progressive, ready at all times to assist in any laudable undertaking, he can ill be spared at this time and his place will be most difficult to fill. His untimely passing in the very prime of life is a blow to Ada where every man was his friend, for he was square in all his dealings and generous with those in distress.

Clark M. Moore, general manager of the string of cement mills of which the Ada plant is a member, pays a glowing tribute to the integrity and business ability of deceased. The company has some $2,000,000 invested in Oklahoma, and the entire property was placed unreservedly in Mr. Wintersmith's hands and never was this confidence abused. Mr. Moore says of him that he lived strictly up to the teachings of the Golden Rule in business as well as private life.

RODDIE HEARING IN PROGRESS

THREE WITNESSES ON STAND BEFORE NOON TELL OF SHOOTING.

The preliminary hearing in the case of R. M. Roddie, charged with killing Percy Barton, began this morning at 10:30 before Justice Brown, I. M. and B. C. King, and Wimbish & Duncan appeared at the trial for defense. The state was represented by County Attorney Washington and his deputy, A. C. Chaney. At noon three witnesses had been examined. The trial was resumed at 1:30 P. M.

Dr. S. P. Ross testified that deceased had phoned him to come to his father's office to treat his bruises received in a difficulty with Roddie in the court room. Did not know of change in location of office and stopped near First National bank corner. Barton met him told him of change. Made no threat against Roddie. Last saw Barton headed west towards Rollow corner. On cross examination stated life might have been saved had proper attention been given wound on the spot instead of taking time to carry him to hospital.

John Rawls, chief of Police, was an eye witness to the shooting. Saw Barton cross over to First National bank corner, talk with some one and return to Bart Smith's drug store and go to the cold drink counter. Saw Roddie coming from west somewhere about Jackson's store. Barton was leaning against door post on east side of door. Roddie talked with some parties on sidewalk. Turned and went nearer door of drug store. Parties got rather close together. Barton either struck Roddie or struck at him. Roddie went to hip pocket. Barton threw up right arm as if to shield face. Rawls shouted to Roddie not to do that. Barton moved sideways away from Roddie. Roddie fired from the hip. Barton began sinking down after second shot. Barton was not armed. Three shots were fired, witness thought.

Cross examined: Barton was standing against east door post with arms folded looking west. When Roddie came along had stepped out with right arm in striking position, possible to conceal weapon in army trousers which are full below the belt.

Redirect examination: Had suggested to Walter Goynne that a search of Roddie might get a gun. Goynne said that he had no gun.

Bob Dixon: Was on east side of Rollow's door when shooting took place. Saw Barton come out of drug store and stop when even with stairway. Hands in natural position. Never saw first shot. Looked like Barton made lunge for Roddie's gun after first shot. Never saw Barton make move towards Roddie before shooting.

Joe McElreath: Was at meat market across street when shooting took place. Four shots fired. Saw Barton fall. Helped carry Barton to hospital and cut clothes off. Was not armed.

Walter Goynne: Saw Barton shot by Roddie. Had called Roddie over phone. Told him Judge Barton and Percy came up in court house looking for him and Judge Barton told Percy if he did not whip him he was no son of his and advised Roddie to keep away to avoid trouble. Roddie said he hated to run. Goynne said not a case of running, but of keeping down trouble. Roddie said he would go home. Never told Roddie Barton threatened his life. Next saw Roddie in front of Drummond & Alderson's store. Roddie said he was going to buy collar and then going home. Didn't hear Roddie say he was not afraid of anybody. Thanked Goynne for warning. Was talking to Henry Stuckey and John Rawls when Barton went east in front of First National bank talking to Dr. Ross, then came back past Goynne. Roddie came up and asked when court convened. Roddie found skinned place on neck and said would go to drug store and get something to stop bleeding. Next saw Roddie jump back. Barton coming from drug store door. Looked like tried to grab Roddie with one hand, and struck with other. Next heard guns fire. Parties very close when gun fired. Appeared to be getting farther apart between first and second shots. Between eight and ten feet apart when last shot was fired. Barton began falling after second shot. Goynne told Roddie's gun and started west with Roddie. Roddie said something like, "My God! What have I done? I wish I hadn't done it."

Cross examined: Saw Barton come to court house before shooting. Judge Barton said, "Son the beat me up in the court room and if you don't whip him you are no son of mine." Barton looked in the various offices of court house, the judge using strong language about Roddie. Went up 12th street still talking. Thought they were hunting trouble. Saw Roddie at Drummond & Alderson's some twenty or thirty minutes later. Again warned Roddie. When shots fired Barton was in striking position. Never heard of any difference between men before this time. Had helped separate Judge Barton and Roddie in court room fight of morning. Barton had said Roddie would answer for this.

Use Furs as Money.

The Loyalty Islands, which lie in the Pacific to the east of Australia, are famous for their fur money. The fur, which is taken from behind the ears of the so-called "flying fox," in reality a large fruit-eating bat, is woven into cords of various lengths, and these constitute the ordinary currency of the islanders.

GIVES BOYS' NAMES TO THREE GIRLS

Stubborn Father's Queer Action Discovered by Draft Board in California.

San Diego, Cal.—Always on the alert for draft evaders, the sheriff some time ago found on the great register the names of three voters of draft age who had failed to register for the service. Further investigation showed that in the Pin Hills district lived a small family by the name of Smalley. Three names appeared—John, William and Harrie.

Armed with the proper papers the sheriff immediately hid himself into the mountains to arrest the suspected three slackers. After considerable trouble the sleuth found the Smalley ranch. He at once asked for John, William and Harrie. And lo and behold! up stepped three beautiful dark-haired young ladies, each with a million-dollar smile which caused the officer to gasp, blink and then wipe off his brow.

As soon as the sheriff could recover he asked for an explanation and learned that "Daddy" Smalley was some stubborn individual and years ago had his heart set on having a family of boys. He was so sure that before his first-born had arrived he named it John. His disappointment was great when he was blessed with a daughter, but he stood pat and vowed the name John would stand. His second child proved to be another girl, but the father had already named it William, and of course that name had to stand for all time. When the third babe was born "Daddy" was not quite so sure, but he had the nerve left to compromise and declared in advance the name would be "Harrie"—and it was another girl.

Not until the drafting for the army came about did the old man weaken and allow "John, William and Harrie" to become regular girls by a change of garb.

SWIPES TWIN FOR PLAYMATE

Four-Year-Old Wanted Baby in Family and Took Shortest Way to Get It.

Wooster, O.—Billy Whittier, aged four, wanted a baby in the family and he took the shortest way to get one. He understood that Dr. A. C. Smith supplied the neighborhood with children and so he simply visited the Smith home when no one was watching the doctor's twin babies and picked out the one he liked best.

Shortly afterward the alarm spread that kidnapers had stolen a baby. Mrs. Whittier in the meantime had discovered Billy's new brother and hastened to return it to Mrs. Smith.

Billy's only reply to expostulations was "Gee whiz; he's a doctor. He could order another for his own use."

NOW CALL HER "LOST" DAVIS

Seattle, Wash.—"Lost" Davis is the name the police have given Lois Davis, aged four years. The police have picked her up ten times in the last few weeks after the girl's parents had reported her lost. The last time she was lost she had been given five cents to purchase milk at a grocery store. She spent the money on a street car ride to a bathing beach. When asked by a policeman how she expected to get back, she said:

"Oh, the police always take me home in an auto."

Lightning Spares Girl.

Des Moines, Ia.—A bolt of lightning struck the home of J. E. Tharow and played havoc with the bedroom where Natalie Tharow, six years old, was sleeping, but never harmed the little girl. The ceiling and walls of the room where the child was sleeping were completely destroyed.

Prefer Candy and Gum.

Kokomo, Ind.—Famished of cigarettes, chewing gum and chocolate, burglars entered the Paul Wickersham grocery and carried away 3,000 cigarettes, 50 packages of chewing gum and 20 cakes of chocolate.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 14.—With the bodies of forty-two victims in morgue at Atkin, Minn., and more on the way, and over one hundred bodies at Moose Lake morgue and a hundred more expected before night fall as the estimate of dead in the forest fire which has swept northwest Minnesota Saturday and Sunday. The death toll stood early today at one thousand. The entire northwest section was today a smoldering ruin strewn with bodies burned beyond recognition. At least a dozen towns and cities are entirely destroyed and property loss will run into many millions. Between three and four hundred coffins have been ordered for Moose Lake alone. Countless small fires are burning today, but no large blazes looked for unless the seventy-mile gale of Saturday returns. Relief work is progressing rapidly.

Bennett's Premonition.

There's no end of merry anecdotes of the whimsicalities of the late James Gordon Bennett, editor of the New York Herald. The reporter covered his assignment for more than 100 performances without having anything to report. Finally he took a night off. That night the lion took a bite.—Boston Globe.

ALLIES ADVANCE LESS RAPIDLY

SEVERAL POINTS TAKEN AND PRESSURE OF RETIRING GERMANS MAINTAINED ON ENTIRE LINE.

(By the Associated Press)

As the Allied armies draw near Cambrai, St. Quentin and natural German defensive positions in St. Gobain forest the offensive movement begins to lose much of the momentum it gained and maintained while less important enemy positions were being taken. Slow progress continues to be made by Field Marshal Haig's forces in the direction of Cambrai and St. Quentin and if French operations directed by Generals Humbert and Mangin are successful in encircling Fort Gobain massif, the German retreat must begin anew and with greater rapidity. Cambrai and St. Quentin are within striking distance but German resistance has stiffened. Northwest of St. Gobain the French have taken Mennessis and Tergnier and threaten LaFere. Between the Vesle and Aisne rivers additional ground has been gained by the Franco-Americans.

Quiet on Flanders Front.

London, Sept. 9.—Last night passed in quiet along the British northern front in France and in Flanders, except for artillery activity and minor raiding operations, according to today's war office report.

British Near St. Quentin.

London, Sept. 9 (1 P. M.)—Pushing ahead today on the front between Peronne and St. Quentin British patrols have occupied the towns of Vermand, five and a half miles northwest of St. Quentin and Vendelles, two miles north of Vermand.

French and Americans Gain.

Paris, Sept. 9.—North of the Somme the French made another advance in the direction of Clastres and have occupied Lemot farm, according to the war office report today. The French crossed Crozat canal opposite Lys, three miles south of Vendeuil. Two strong German counterattacks in Laffaux region, northeast of Soissons were repulsed. The French took eighty prisoners belonging to five different regiments.

HUNS CLAIM REPULSE OF ALLIED ARMIES

(By the Associated Press)
Berlin via London, Sept. 9.—Allied attacks north of Armentieres, in Flanders, yesterday were repulsed by the Germans who took prisoners, says today's official statement from German general staff. Between the Aisne and Ailette rivers, the statements add, the French were repulsed along the whole front with sanguinary losses.

HAIG'S MEN NEAR HINDENBURG LINE

(By the Associated Press)
With British Army in France, Sept. 9.—Field Marshal Haig's forces this morning advanced in an area northwest of St. Quentin and are now five miles from the old Hindenburg line, and still pressing forward. In Flanders, the Germans have removed their artillery to the east of the Lys river.

FOURTH GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES

(By the Associated Press)
Boston, Sept. 9.—Although box selections were in doubt shortly before the fourth world series game between the Boston Americans and Chicago Nationals there was expectation that Boston fans would see their favorite Babe Ruth try to pitch his team to another victory and that the Red Sox would have a chance to bat against Claude Hendrix for the Cubs. Boston has won two games to Chicago's one, so far in series.

PREPARING FOR REGISTRATION

SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION FOR ADVISORY BOARD ASSISTANTS WEDNESDAY EVENING.

About 85 persons in Pontotoc county, in addition to the 35 lawyers in the county, have been appointed as associate members of the legal advisory board of Pontotoc county to aid in filling out the new questionnaires. At the other registrations only lawyers were on this board and they were literally swamped with the work. This time the work will be done quicker and with more ease than before. It is thought that the Legal Advisory Board, composed of Orel Busby, Robt Wimblish and C. T. Barney, have appointed enough men in each town in the county to take care of the new registrants quickly and efficiently.

A school of instruction will be held at the Court House at Ada at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday night, Sept. 11, to aid the new members of the advisory board in learning how to fill out the questionnaires. All persons who have received appointments as associate members of the legal advisory board are urged to be present. Following are the men in Pontotoc county on this board and registrants can take their questionnaires to any one of them to receive aid.

The present Kaiser of Germany was always intensely jealous of Bismarck, the real founder of the present German empire. For many years past he has been busy erecting monuments throughout the nation to his grandfather, William I, the nominal head of the empire that the genius of Bismarck created. On these he inscribed the words, "William the Great," intending that when he himself had conquered the world that his statues should be inscribed, "William the Greatest." Two Napoleons ruled France, one known in history as "Napoleon the Great" and the other as "Napoleon the Little." In the Kaiser's case it will be "William the Littlest," or when his full responsibility for all this war and blood shed is recorded by historians, "William the Damned," as the former Sultan of Turkey, Abdul Hamid was termed. As for Bismarck very few monuments have been erected to his memory by the Kaiser.

The alliance of Finland with Germany will not likely be productive of very great results. The treaty was made by a bunch of lenders, either bought by German gold or else under compulsion of the German forces now in that state. Finland was originally a part of Sweden but was taken from that country by Peter the Great who was seeking access to the sea for Russia. Until recent years the Finns enjoyed greater freedom than another part of Russia, but the late czar undertook to Russify the nation and endless trouble followed. It is not likely that these people will be ready for a mere exchange of oppressors and when the time comes to deliver the goods in the shape of armed forces the Kaiser will probably find that he has only plucked another lemon.

With every fresh success of the Allies we hear men remarking that the war will be over before the end of the year. While we rejoice in the success of our armies and do not underestimate the almost miraculous accomplishments of the past two months, we must warn everybody against over confidence. True, the Huns are being dealt staggering blows and are being pushed back towards the border, but they are yet a long way from being crushed and if the pressure of the Allies relaxed a minute they would strike back. The point is that we should not lose sight of the fact that there is still much to be done and subscribe as liberally as possible to the next Liberty Loan and other branches of war work so that the Huns will not be given a breathing spell because we were over confident and gave him a chance to come back. Now that he is groggy from the punishment already received, just double the force of the blows and deliver a knock out punch as speedily as possible, else he may recover sufficiently to hand the Allies a few on the solar plexus. Too much confidence has lost many a fight but it must not be the means of losing this one. The war will not end this year and only hard fighting can win in next year.

In Spite of War and High Prices.
If you wanted to sell a second-hand automobile or rent a house, you would put an advertisement in the paper and run it a few times or until you sold the machine or rented the house, and then you would quit. If you were manufacturing goods or running a store, you would maintain your advertising continuously, because you would not be aiming to make one sale, but many—as many as you could. All right. Now comes along a war and upsets your supply of raw material, or made-up goods, or maybe the government takes over your output or curtails it, thereby either completely or partially eliminating your civilian trade. Would it be worth while to continue your advertising? This is the question that many of our big industries are facing. What are they doing? With hardly an exception they are continuing. Not with a view of influencing immediate sales. Not at all. But, realizing that present conditions are going to melt back into history at no very distant date they are KEEPING ALIVE THEIR NAMES AND REPUTATIONS. If they discontinued, think of the millions of dollars of good-will value back of all those trade marks and names that would be lost or greatly reduced. Preservation is nature's first law. Preservation of prestige is likewise the first law of business.

Among the larger industries to maintain, and in fact increase, their advertising this Fall, the Wm. Wrigley Jr. Company is noted, as evidenced by the "copy" now running on a frequent schedule in the News. Welcome, Mr. Wrigley, and we hope our local merchants will be heartened by your energy. Also, Mr. Wrigley, may we commend your attitude of injecting a strong patriotic note in your advertising. Instead of the usual sales talk about "Wrigley's" being great for appetite and digestion? We understand the soldiers and sailors are taking most of your output and that we at home will have to chew our Wrigley's a little longer. All right. "The flavor lasts," anyway, and we won't have to go completely without, judging from the stocks of your goods our merchants are apparently able to maintain in spite of war and high war.

We agree with Gen. Sherman in his definition of war, and we also agree with Mr. Wrigley in his statement that WE MUST WIN THIS WAR and that until we do, nothing else really matters. In this connection, may we be permitted to remark that newspaper space is receiving earnest attention in these days of momentousness, and that the columns of the News are just as valuable as they ever were, if not more so, in stimulating goodwill and maintaining the prestige of the goods, the trade marks and the names set forth therein.

SCHOOLS BANISHING GERMAN LANGUAGE

(By the Associated Press)
New York, Sept. 9.—Fourteen states in the Union have abolished the teaching of the German language in the schools and in sixteen other states a campaign to eliminate German is underway, according to an announcement made today by the American Defense Society. Many cities in the sixteen states where the campaign against the study of the German language is in progress have thrown German out of their schools but the state itself has not taken decisive action, says the announcement of the Society, which has been conducting a campaign against the study of German in the public schools.

This announcement was past upon a canvass of the states and cities which was conducted by Dr. Perry A. Dickie, of New York. The states listed as having abolished the study of the German language from their schools are: Alabama, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Louisiana, Maine, Mississippi, Montana, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah and West Virginia. The following states it is announced now have under consideration the abolition of the teaching of German: Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Rhode Island, Texas, Virginia, Wisconsin.

The Society announced that the following cities have wholly or partly "thrown out" the study of German from their schools: New York City, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., Seattle, Louisville, Ky., Portland, Ore., Jersey City, N. J., Grand Rapids, Mich., Des Moines, Ia., Elizabeth, N. J., Passaic, N. J., Tacoma, Wash., Bayonne, N. J.,

Wheeling, W. Va., Mt. Vernon, N. Y., Pawling, N. Y., Alton, Ill., Champaign, Ill., Charleroi, Pa., Eugene, Ore., St. Mary's, Pa., Cliffside Park, N. J., Quakertown, Pa., and Glen Cove, L. I.

The situation in the sixteen states where the campaign against the German language is reported as in progress is, in part, described in Dr. Dickie's report, as follows: Arizona—German is fast being eliminated by our local boards. Arkansas—Many of our public schools have discontinued the teaching of German. It has been practically discontinued in all of our high schools.

Florida—I think that practically all of the Germans have been removed from the schools without making any public demonstration about it. They just simply failed to re-election. Georgia—We have decided to discontinue giving examination in German in order to certify teachers in this subject. There has been no rule or law displacing the study from the schools, though it is becoming more unpopular every day.

Idaho—Teaching of German is prohibited in schools up to and including the eighth grade. Teaching of German in the high schools is left to the determination of the local boards. Indiana—With the reassembling of the legislature ample provision will be made for the exclusion of German from our schools. Kansas—There never has been any German to speak of taught in any of our elementary schools, and since the war it has been eliminated from practically half of our high schools.

Michigan—It is my opinion that at least 50 per cent of the schools of this state have dropped German from their courses of study. It has also been dropped from the courses of study of many higher institutions. Missouri—So far as reports have come there will be one or two high schools outside of the cities which are planning to give German next year. The city high schools are limiting the teaching to students who are preparing for technical courses. In Kansas City the teaching has been discontinued altogether.

New Jersey—The State Board of Education passed a resolution under which it will be possible for every local board to prohibit the study of German. What will be the result time will tell. New York—It appears that registration in German classes has fallen off about 80 per cent in schools where German is still optional. Next year German will be dropped in a majority of the high schools in the state, principally because the students will not have it. (No action against German by the legislature, or State Board of Education.) Ohio—No measures have been taken in this state by the Department of Public Instruction for the removal of Germans from the public schools. It has not been necessary. They are removing it in nearly all the schools in the state of their own accord.

Rhode Island—Foreign languages never have been taught in Rhode Island's elementary schools. Several towns and cities have recently barred German from their high schools. Texas—The legislature has enacted a law that the English language must be used exclusively in the conduct of the work of the schools, except in the foreign courses permitted in the high schools. Virginia—German in most of the high schools of the state, is an elective study, and the high school pupils are not electing this subject. Wisconsin—The teaching of German has already been discontinued in a good many schools of the state either through official action by the local board, or through the fact that there are no students asking for the subject.

"GROUND FLYING" EXCITING WORK

Behind British Lines in France, Sept. 9.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—"Ground flying" is perhaps the most exciting of all the aerial tactics in which the British airmen are instructing their American pupils in Northern France. It demands a high combination of skill and daring, but it is a game in which the British have during the past year won a marked superiority over the Germans.

The training of "ground flying" pilots is particularly thorough, and includes much necessary practice in leaping hills trees and telegraph poles, etc., in a manner which prompts by leads the uninformed spectator to condemn the airman as a reckless fool.

But failing in this practice the pilot would never acquire the skill and confidence necessary for this highly specialized type of work. The machines used are fast and difficult to fly, and operating so close to the ground, the pilot knows that he has literally no more margin for indecision or hesitating than he has in actual aerial combat.

In "ground flying" tactics the pilot acts mainly on his own personal initiative, and he must be prepared to attack the enemy whenever he may be found, either with bombs, grenades, darts, or machine gun fire. Thus German officers in charge of ammunition dumps have every reason to fear the approach of a British "low flier." The fear of machine gun fire is even greater, and whole German regiments have been decimated and demoralized by British airplanes.

German batteries, railway stations, billets, training ground and aerodromes are frequently attacked in this way, and the moral effect is very great. Von Richthofen, the famous German airfighter, now dead, once described how an English machine one night came down to a height of 150 feet, through a fusillade of gun fire and a blinding glare of searchlights, to bomb a German aerodrome with deadly effect. Richthofen considered it "tremendously plucky that the man didn't swerve but came straight on in accordance with his plans."

AGRICULTURAL SHOW BIG

Drouth Will Not Hurt the Oklahoma State Fair Show.
Oklahoma City.—Drouth conditions will not curtail the annual agricultural exhibition at the Oklahoma State Fair & Exposition. Numerous county exhibit entries have already been made, and more are coming in daily. It is axiomatic that even in the drouth sections of the state many good farms, located along streams and in bottom lands may be found. Exhibits this year from the drouth sections may be made up easily from crops grown on these farms, and it is entirely possible that a drouth county may carry off the historic agriculture loving cup and first money at Oklahoma City this year.

FAST HORSES AT THE FAIR

Speed Kings and Queens of West Race at Oklahoma City.
Oklahoma City.—Some of the fastest horses west of the Mississippi river are expected to race for purses aggregating $5,450. at the Oklahoma State Fair & Exposition this year. Racing days are Monday, September 23, Tuesday, September 24, Thursday, September 26, and Friday, September 27. The 2:20 trot on the first racing day the 2:11 pace on the second, the 2:14 trot on the third and the 2:17 pace on the fourth are all for purses of $300 and will attract many fast entries. The Oklahoma derby, run for a purse of $500, is scheduled for September 26. There are sixteen harness events and as many running races scheduled.

LIVESTOCK PROSPECT GOOD

State Fair Barns to Be Filled to Overflowing.
Oklahoma City.—Prospects for the greatest livestock exhibition ever seen in Oklahoma encourage Secretary I. S. Mahan of the Oklahoma State Fair & Exposition to expect a most successful season in that department. Entries are coming in from some of the largest breeders in the country. One of the largest Percheron breeders in Chicago has asked for stalls for his string of high-class animals; cattle entries are coming in rapidly from Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri, Mississippi, Arkansas, Illinois and many states even farther away.

FAIR GROUNDS BEAUTIFIED

Oklahoma City.—Thousands of dollars have been spent by the Oklahoma State Fair & Exposition this year to make the State Fair grounds a place of beauty. Scores of gigantic flower beds dot the grounds; the cement walks and driveways are bordered by brilliant cannas and other flowers; the grass has been carefully watered and attended, and hundreds of trees furnish cool shade.

A Soldier's Ambition.

A returned war correspondent tells a fine, characteristic story of an American soldier's after-the-war plans. This particular American, whose name happens to be spelled with about 14 consonants, and whom his comrades call "Big Boy" for short, was lying on a cot in a French hospital, with arms and legs paralyzed. Now and then the orderly would steal to his bedside, place a lighted cigarette between his lips and disappear. In five minutes the orderly would come back and pull the stump out of the patient's mouth to the accompaniment of a grateful look. Also, now and then some well-meaning woman would come in, and seeing Big Boy's plight, would lay a flower on his bed. And that unregenerate paralytic, the moment the donor had gone, would shout to the orderly, "Dan! remove the funeral decorations!"

That, however, is not the story. It is merely back ground. The patient started telling each other what they were going to do when they got back home, and Big Boy horned in as follows: "I'll tell you what you'd like to do, and what I'm going to do. I am going back to my little town in Ohio. I am going to get a bunch of cracker boxes down on the main street of my town, and when I get all the kids and townspeople around me, I am going to outlie all the war veterans from the days of Alexander to Pershing."

THE KAISER WANTS YOU TO SPEND

Make That Old Suit Do For a While Yet.
This is addressed to you, Mr. American Citizen. It is also addressed to your family. It is up to you whether the war is won or lost. Some will tell you that food will do it. Some will tell you that coal is the thing that is going to save the day. But it is neither of these, nor is it all of them taken together, although each and every one of them will contribute its bit to the Cause of Democracy. There is only one factor in the struggle that counts—YOU.

You count just as much as the boys at the front. But you have to make yourself count by practicing the closest economy. Take, for instance, the matter of clothing. We all know that clothing is necessary to civilized man. But during these war days it is not necessary to expend the amount of money for them as in the past. Think what it would mean if every man, woman and child in the United States today should buy heavily of clothing. It would mean depriving necessary war industries of much needed labor.

Battlefront indications are that the war is to come to an end within the next year—when our boys will win this war for the side of Justice just as easily as not. Providing, of course, we do just one thing, practice economy. Therefore, we say to you Mr. American Citizen. Don't buy unnecessary clothing this year. Send your old garments to a first-class cleaning and dyeing establishment and put the difference between the cost of refurbishing up old clothing and the cost of new into War Savings Stamps and Liberty bonds.

and west, he's harvesting the grain. There is lots of things a soldier does that people never hear, so if you want to know a few just kindly lend an ear.

Twenty-five miles perhaps ain't so far to the man who sits in his touring car and watches the miles speed by; but listen my friend, to what I tell of twenty-five miles that were worse than hell. From Columbus to is just that far, across the desert where they do not have cars. They day was hot when we started out, blistering sun on a sea of sands, and our eyes turned red as the miles went by, and the sun never dimmed by a cloud in the sky. Mile after mile with nothing but sand, no water or shade to bless the land, the yucca plant and the thorny mesquite tore holes in our limbs as well as our feet, and the horned toad sat and blinked his eyes at the strange procession going by, and the coyotes stalked us like a band of sheep, to pick up stragglers for his morning feed. Then off to the west, perhaps a mile, was something that made our hearts beat wild. 'Twas a lake, yes, a lake, though hard to believe, reflecting their shadows in the waves below, and there was grass real green grass, something we hadn't seen in the year gone past.

Oh, to get there and cool our feet in that water that looked so cool and sweet, and rest in the shade of those dear old trees that were looking there in the gentle breeze just like the old trees we used to know back on the old farm of long ago, and many a lad river over the day when we gathered their leaves and making hay. But mile after mile as the time elapsed the little lake we never passed; and many a half crazed boyish eye failed to see, as the miles went by, that the little lake, though just as clear, was just that far and never came near. Our tongues were swelled, our lips were dry, but never a word as the miles went by.

The forty pounds we had on our backs were like lead, but still we trudged on and wished we were dead; but there was the lake and the water at hand, but just as we looked it changed to sand. Many a good boy fell in the ranks and was helped to a wagon on the flank; many never made that long pull up the side of the mountain to where we were through. We don't want to grumble

Dear Friends:—I will take a few minutes to tell you about army life. It is fine and dandy. It is so cool here in these hills we have to have cover at night. We make our own beds and clean up the yard every morning. We also make our own mattresses of straw and wash our own clothes.

We arrived here last Friday about 1:30 P. M. We were about 24 hours on the way. We joined the Okmulgee and Henryetta boys in Holdenville. We saw many beautiful scenes on the way, and many of the boys who had never seen a river or mountain were really amazed at the scenes.

We have not been to Little Rock yet for we are still in quarantine for seven more days at least. This is some place. The camp holds 125,000 we are told by the lieutenants. They are coming in every day and going out every day. I am an A-1 man having passed all exams perfectly. We have been shot in the shoulder once and also vaccinated on the left arm. Both of mine are taking. The shot makes us a bit dreary but we are feeling very well now. They are awfully severe ones and the second shot is twice as strong as the first and the third is twice as strong as the second. But all is necessary in the army. They are very precautions about health and it is one blessing too. I have gained three pounds since I've been here and I am not a bit homesick as I had never been away from home till I came here.

The camp is six miles from Little Rock on the Missouri, Pacific Ry. We all eat on a hill side as a bunch of chickens eating corn, but we are all brothers here. Just one family of khaki colors. We have all kinds of athletics here any one could want. We will be in barracks soon, then we will get to eat on tables as though we were at home.

The lights go off at 9:30 and on at 4:30 a. m. We were here five days before we received any uniforms. You ought to see my hob nail shoes—they are keen. It looks as though we had a million men here, just one solid string of khaki.

Well I will have to close now and write to mother.

We would appreciate a box of tobacco or cigars or eats from any one.

Jerry Loman, Guy Eason and Jess Williams and Jerry Cragin are in the camp. They are all doing fine. I would appreciate a letter from any one.

I remain

Yours truly,

WM. PENNINGTON.

NEW STAR ATTRACTS INTEREST OF OBSERVERS

Pasadena, Calif., Sept. 9.—Some remarkable facts revealed by the telescope and the spectroscopic regarding Nova Apollis No. 3, the new star that blazed forth in the heavens June 8, last, as the result of a "celestial catastrophe" have been set forth in an article prepared for The Associated Press by Dr. Walter S. Adams, assistant director of the Mount Wilson Solar Observatory, which is located near here.

"The appearance of the temporary star or nova in the constellation of Aquila on June 8th is one of the most interesting astronomical events in many years," said Dr. Adams in his article. "Although such stars are by no means unknown, fifteen having been discovered since 1891, no star comparable with this in brightness has appeared since the celebrated star of Kepler in 1604.

"Although such stars are called novae, they are new only in the sense of undergoing an enormous increase in brightness. Thus Nova Aquilae No. 3, (so called since two other temporary stars had been found previously in this constellation) has been identified as a faint star, quite invisible to the naked eye, on a large number of photographs taken during the past thirty years.

"Its increase in brightness apparently began on June 7th, and on June 8th it was 10,000 times as bright as it was originally and by far the most brilliant star in the summer sky. It then began to fade, at first rapidly, and then more gradually, with occasional oscillations in light. By August first it had become reduced to one one-hundredth of its greatest brilliancy.

"It is clear that the outburst of a nova must represent something in the nature of a celestial catastrophe, since no ordinary physical process can account for the extraordinary increase of light within a few hours. Two theories have been suggested to account for the phenomenon, the collision of two stars, and the collision of a star with a cloud of nebulous gas. At present there is little to choose between them, but the results of the study of Nova Aquilae may aid in a decision.

"Apart from direct photography of the region surrounding the star, and accurate determinations of its variation in light, the principal observational work at the Mount Wilson Observatory has been devoted to a study of its spectrum. In general this has followed that of other temporary stars. Beginning with a spectrum in many ways resembling a familiar stellar type it developed a series of broad bright bands due to hydrogen and helium. These underwent many variations, but within a few weeks the bright bands characteristic of nebulae began to appear.

"A remarkable and most important development in the spectrum, detected on photographs taken at Mount Wilson, was the appearance on the second night after its discovery of an extraordinary number of fairly narrow absorption lines. With the aid of comparisons with other stellar spectra it has been found possible to identify most of these with lines due to metals from chromium and titanium. The interesting feature, however, is that they are displaced very greatly toward the violet from their normal positions.

"Now we know with certainty of no physical cause which can displace so large a number of lines to such an extent, and leave them even moderately well-defined, other than motion in the body producing them. Interpreted on this basis the fact that these lines are due to approaching the earth at a rate of 900 miles a second. If we are correct in the hypothesis of motion it is evident that this may represent either an enormous expansion of the body of the star, or a rush outward of jets of gaseous material. Most of the dark lines showing these displacements disappeared within a very few days.

"It is probable that Nova Aquilae, like other temporary stars, will become gradually fainter but retain for a time the spectrum characteristic of gaseous nebulae. Later this will change into a type well known among some of the fainter stars in the Milky Way which may themselves be representatives of ancient novae."

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE TWO FLIES.

"I'm going for a ride, I'm going for a ride," said one fly to the other.

"Oh, you are, indeed, you don't care how you talk."

"Why should I care how I talk," said the first fly, "I'm only a fly, supposed to know very little."

"But how can you take a ride?" said the second fly.

"In many ways," answered the first fly.

"You might be good enough to tell me some of them," urged the second fly.

"I'd be glad to," said the first fly. And then it began to tell the different ways it could take a ride.

"In the first place of all I could ride in a carriage if I wished."

"You're a snobbish fly."

"I'm not at all, but I could ride in a carriage. And I could ride on a train. Or I could ride in an automobile. I could also ride on a ship, but I'm not so fond of the ships as they're too near the water. And I hate water, absolutely hate it."

"There's nothing so wonderful about that," said the second fly. "We all hate water. You're just an ordinary fly when you talk like that. I thought you had some great tales to tell me of wonderful experiences riding through the country. Instead you tell me you hate water."

"My dear good fly," said the first one, "I have already told you that I could ride in carriages, automobiles, or trains, or ships."

"You didn't say carriages, automobiles, trains or ships; you spoke of one at a time before. Now you are trying to boast. I'll have none of it."

"Whatever do you mean by that?" asked the first fly.

"I mean that I will fly away, buzz, buzz. I'll fly away, unless you tell me the truth without boasting."

"I am telling you the truth, and I am not boasting," said the first fly angrily.

"Nonsense, I know better," answered the second fly. "How can you ride on several boats or several trains or in several automobiles at the same time?"

"Ah," said the first fly, "there is where the difference comes in between what I said, and what you are imagining I said. I couldn't ride in several automobiles or upon several trains at the same time, but I could ride in many different ones at different times. There, you see, I was not boasting."

"Yes, I see," said the second fly.

They were now having their talk upon the ceiling, for that is such a nice cozy place for flies to talk. It is like a reception room of their own where people won't interrupt them or drive them away.

"Can't you just picture me taking a ride in an automobile? I would doubtless take a seat behind the leather at the back of the automobile. But though automobiles are fashionable I don't care for them. They're too much out whizzing in the open air for me. I like an automobile which is standing still, but a train is ideal."

"I don't mind how fast a train goes. I can stay on the ceiling or upon someone's bag, or upon the window, and I can ride, and ride."

"I could do all those things," said the second fly, "but I never thought of bragging about them."

"I'm not bragging," said the first fly. "I'm simply telling you the things I can do. It's fine to be a fly. And if some one else isn't going to praise me I shall do it myself."

"Well, what do you expect to ride in now?"

"I'm going to take a ride on your back," said the first fly. And, to the huge annoyance of the second fly, the first one rode on his back! But they didn't go very quickly and very quickly the first fly got off.

"However," it said, "I did what I told you I was going to do. I am such a fine fly!"

Just then it noticed some delicious looking yellow jam upon a long strip of paper. "Ah, people appreciate me, they are giving me jam."

"Better not go near that," said the second fly. But the first fly had already tasted of the jam on the flypaper and he had dropped down, no longer a boastful, bragging fly.

"It shows it's best not to be too sure of ourselves," said the second fly, still safe upon the ceiling.

Perfectly Correct.

"What is the meaning of the word tantalizing?" asked the teacher.

"Please, ma'am," spoke up little Johnny Holcomb, "it means a circus procession passing the school house and the scholars are not allowed to look out."

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SCOUT ENVOY TO PERSHING

The Boy Scouts of America have a special envoy in France. On the Fourth of July he took to General Pershing and the American expeditionary forces a message from the 442,000 scouts and scout officials in our country.

This messenger is Dr. Charles Macfarland. The message from the Boy Scouts of America to Gen. John J. Pershing and the American expeditionary forces says in part:

"While we are compelled to remain at home, each one of us is definitely engaged in one or more war work activities under the leadership of the national government. Indeed we take pride in being a part of Uncle Sam's team in these stirring times and are anxious for the opportunity to make any sacrifice in order that our cause may prevail.

"With you there are over 100,000 who have, as scouts or scout officials, discovered the practical value of scouting. They know how to take care of themselves and how to be helpful to others when in need.

"Good cheer and hearty greetings is the sincere wish of the scout brotherhood of America."

THE BOY YOU CAN TRUST.

Some fellows are very much brighter, I know. At camps and inspections they frequently show better advantage; and some they may be. Who understand Scouting from A through Z? Who know how to rig up a telegraph set? To make fire by friction and such things—and yet When critical times are ahead of me, Just Give me the fellow I know I can trust! He doesn't suspect, but it's true all the same. That he's getting his training for playing life's game. He'll find when he's older, as others have found, That there aren't enough boys of that kind to go round. Who tackle their work with a resolute heart Determined to finish whatever they start. And if you would succeed in this old world, you must Be sure you're the kind of a boy folks can trust!

—Boys' Life.

SCOUTS' LIBERTY LOAN WORK.

Each day the importance of the work that was done by the Boy Scouts of America in the third Liberty loan campaign is augmented by the receipt of final scoutmasters' reports.

The total number of subscriptions now reported is 580,540, amounting to the sum of $87,131,850.

This is a most gratifying showing because while the amount in money is not so large as it was in the second campaign, the number of subscriptions secured is largely in excess of those secured for the second campaign. This spells real service of the highest degree because in the third campaign as "gleaners after the reapers," all blanket corporation subscriptions were eliminated and the boys confined themselves to soliciting individuals, and the number of $50 and $100 bonds sold is a wonderful achievement.

SCOUTS GET NAVY DESERTER.

John Gilbert Jones, an alleged two-time navy deserter, was captured by members of a boy scout troop in Ramapo mountains, near Wyckoff, N. J., and started under guard for Newport News, Va.

For two months federal authorities had searched for Jones, but clever work on the part of the boy scouts of Wyckoff resulted in his apprehension. In an abandoned mountain schoolhouse the scouts came across a store of provisions and some navy clothing.

When Jones returned, 11 scouts closed in on him at a prearranged signal. The deserter offered no resistance.

SCOUTS DOING A GREAT WORK.

The Boy Scouts of America have done big work this year—greater, more valuable work was never done.

Leaders and troops, old and young, went into America's fight for liberty with vim, stuck to it with vigor and harvested a crop of funds and food that meant victory.

Millions of dollars were secured for clothing, shelter and instruments of defense. Tons of food were added to Uncle Sam's store that furnishes the physical fuel needed to enable our soldiers to stop the barbarian hordes attacking the civilization secured by man's struggle for 2,000 years.

SCOUTS WEAR HAT BADGE.

All genuine boy scouts should wear the badge on the hat.

One important reason for this is the fact that the United States government has permitted the Boy Scouts of America alone among boy organizations to wear a uniform similar to that of the United States army, so it is only fair to the authorities that the scouts should wear the distinguishing mark of their organization on the hat. In order that they may not be confused with the soldiers.

TEXAN DETERMINED TO MEET ROYALTY; HE DID

London (By Mail)—Where's the king? I wanna meet th' head of this great country."

A big bay-wheeled Yankee from Texas showed through the crowd surrounding King George and Queen Mary on one of their recent visits to the American Y. M. C. A. Washington Inn.

He locked the king straight in the eye, stuck out his hand and bellowed: "Har ya, King? Sure glad to meetcha."

In telling the story, John Pontius, Columbus, Ohio, Y. M. C. A. secretary, who was escorting the royal couple through the building said: "I thought the king would flinch at this loud democratic procedure.

"But not he. His hand reached out immediately and grasped the American's in a hearty shake. That broke the ice and then all Yankees in the building crowded around and shook the king's hand."

Conserve Your Money

It is just as vital that the wealth of the citizens of this country be conserved as that any other necessity be conserved to aid in the winning of the War.

Money is the greatest requirement of the Government; the absolutely paramount commodity, the essential thing which we can all have a part in providing.

The Capital Issues Committee Was Created to Help Conserve Money

The Capital Issues Committee has legal jurisdiction over all issues in excess of $100,000 and has requested that all issues of $100,000 or less be submitted to the District Committee for approval.

It will be regarded as an unpatriotic act for any stock to be sold which has not received the permission of the Capital Issues Committee, and all citizens are asked to co-operate with the Committee by refusing to buy any stock which has not been submitted to the Committee and received the proper permit.

Insist Upon Seeing the Permit Before Buying Any Stock

When you are asked to buy stock or bonds in any company, insist upon seeing the permit of the Capital Issues Committee for its sale. Do not accept any statement that it is all right, that the permit is in the offices of the company. DO NOT BUY ANY STOCK unless the proper permit is produced for your inspection.

Do not trade your LIBERTY BONDS for any stock, no matter if a permit for its sale has been issued or not. The boys at the front have enlisted for the duration of the War. Surely you should enlist your money without reservation.

You owe to the Government your co-operation in providing the money needed to carry on the War, and the Capital Issues Committee helps you to avoid non-essential investments.

Please do all that you can to assist the Government in this direction.

ASA E. RAMSAY,

Chairman District Committee on Capital Issues, For the Tenth Federal Reserve District, Kansas City, Missouri.
